Introduction:

Our Ethos

“Building Confidence for the Future”

Working with parents/carers, mainstream schools, support agencies, clinicians and community to deliver individualised support and teaching & learning.

We strive for nothing short of excellence in all that we do and are never complacent about our achievements; we consistently challenge ourselves to look for ways to improve our practice further to ensure a high level of support and quality of education for the children and young people referred to our provision.

This policy complies with the following legislation:

- Children Act 1989
- Education Act 1996

Ashley College Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) Policy 2023-2024

The education we provide at Ashley College for students with special educational needs contributes to the Brent Council vision to:

'ensure that all children and young people with SEND and their families have the fullest possible range of support and opportunities available to them to improve their life chances and realise their aspirations'

At Ashley College our particular expertise is responding to individual young people's health and special educational needs - we remove barriers to learning and deliver high quality education to secure the best possible outcomes for students. This report sets out how we contribute to the Brent Local Offer

There is a special referral process for admitting students to Ashley College, more details about this can be found here.

What Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) do we provide for?

A pupil has SEND where the learning difficulty or disability calls for provision different from or additional to that normally available to pupils of the same age.

We have helped students with a range of different needs, including difficulties in:

- communication and interaction (autistic spectrum conditions, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, developmental language disorders)
- cognition and learning (literacy difficulties, numeracy difficulties, dyslexia, dyscalculia and moderate learning difficulties)
- social, emotional and mental health (schizophrenia, bi-polar disorder, anxieties, depression, emotionally based school-avoidance, self-harm, separation anxiety, attachment disorder)
- physical mobility (development co-ordination disorder, epilepsy, diabetes)
- visual impairment
- hearing impairment
- a variety of medical conditions

Where student needs are complex and we cannot meet need, we advise whether they would be better provided for in a special school in discussion with other agencies and parents/carers.

The 'graduated' approach

The accepted ('graduated') approach to support progress and good outcomes takes the form of a four-part cycle - earlier decisions and actions are revisited, refined and revised to match SEN interventions.

Identifying young people's SEND

Some of our students are identified with SEND before they arrive at Ashley College in their dual registered school. Some but not all will have an Education and Health Care Plan (EHC plan – formerly known as a Statement of SEN) identifying their needs for support. Other students may have identified SEND but no EHC plan/Statement. Some students are referred whose SEND become apparent during our initial assessment.

Initial assessment

We start from a baseline assessment of the student's full range of needs – not just the academic need - with:

- information from previous educational providers and professional reports, including medical history
- reading and spelling age assessments
- baseline assessments in English, Maths and Science
- student observations during settling in period
- home visits to understand the views and concerns of students and their parents/carers, and any barriers to learning
- assessment of social and emotional aspects of learning known as 'The Personal Development Assessment'
- evidence of disability requiring reasonable adjustments

Slow progress and low attainment do not necessarily mean that a student has SEND but may indicate medical, social, or-emotional or mental health difficulties.

We are careful to establish whether lack of progress in students whose first language is not English is due to language limitations or SEND.

Our initial assessment is recorded in a 'Pupil Profile' available to Ashley College teachers before the student begins tuition to inform the teacher's planning. We maintain confidentiality over sensitive matters and share information on a need to know basis, in accordance with GDPR regulations.

Current SEND students

All of our students are placed on the SEND Support Register due to their health needs and the significant impact this has had on their previous attendance and attainment.

Many of our students come under the category of social, emotional and mental health in the Code of Practice (2014). Ashley College offers over and above the norm ordinarily available in a mainstream school.

As an interim provision our student cohort constantly changes. For academic year 2022-23 50% of our pupils were in receipt of an EHCP. Considering that the national average in mainstream schools is 2.2% and 7.6% in PRU or AP our average is well above these.

Assessing and reviewing student progress

Assessment is continual. We track student progress termly and send reports to parents and the mainstream school each term on students':

- progress and attainment (against EHCPs if applicable)
- attendance and effort
- behaviour, social and emotional development
- responses to interventions

We regularly invite parents/carers feedback (see Consulting section below)

Teaching students with SEND

Teachers alongside the SENDCO develop Personal Learning Plans (PLPs) for all students including those with SEND from the 'Pupil Profile' and record:

- adjustments, interventions, equipment and support to be put in place
- expected outcomes, including targets that address the learning difficulties
- personalised learning ~~teaching~~ strategies or approaches required
- PLP termly reviews by subject teachers and Link Tutors
- parental/carer support for homework

We provide high quality teaching personalised for individual student needs in small groups or if appropriate 1:1. Subject teachers are responsible for working with SEND students on a daily basis and lessons are planned alongside personalised subject targets. They work closely with other teachers and teaching assistants, to assess the impact of support. The SENDCO (see below) attends multi-agency meetings about the student and reports conclusions to subject teachers and link tutors. The SENDCO supports the class teacher in assessing strengths and weaknesses, in problem solving and advising on strategies. Termly drop ins allow the SENDCO to observe students using learning strategies, along with identifying areas of difficulty and implementing next steps to ensure EHCP outcomes are being worked towards and achieved where a student is with us more long term.

Evaluating effectiveness of SEND provision

We evaluate whole school policies regularly to insure inclusion and progress for students with SEND and this evaluation takes account of:

- Pupil reviews by all teachers concerned, with SENDCO feedback
- SENDCO reviews with multi-agency teams around a student
- teacher assessments of effectiveness
- classroom observation by SENDCO and SLT
- Personal Learning Plans and book scrutinies
- student interviews on targets
- attendance records and Education Welfare Service advice to address issues
- parent/carer feedback (see Consulting section below)

Students with an EHC plan will have a review with the Local Authority at least once every 12 months. This is the responsibility of the mainstream school to organise and Ashley College attends providing updated evidence. Students' home schools hold responsibility for organising and setting dates for annual reviews, which Ashley College attend and contribute up to date information.

Adaptations to curriculum and learning environment

Ashley College is a single storey site with disabled toilet facilities and suitable for students with physical disabilities. The adaptations we can make to help students (with or without an EHC plan) to achieve their expected outcomes may include changing:

- the learning and/or physical environment
- student group size
- teaching assistant support
- increased ICT or special resources
- specialist training of key staff
- curriculum materials
- special equipment

Recent adaptations we have made include:

- 360 video on website to support anxious students at point of entry
- reader and scribe support for lessons and examinations
- use of exam reader pens
- blended learning approach using remote, online lessons via Google Meets and Google Classroom when medical needs prevent students from attending school. This has also been used for students who are required to self –isolate due to Covid 19. Teaching assistant are readily available and call students to ensure they are ready to log into “live” lessons.
- 1:1 focused literacy and numeracy to support gaps in learning being closed
- iPads for students not comfortable with writing
- early morning and after school, teaching supported homework sessions
- twice weekly link tutor sessions to support students social, emotional and mental well being
- personalised homework schedules to support students in managing work load and independent learning
- special examination arrangements for students with high anxiety or aggressive behaviour
- special classroom positioning
- one-to-one teaching assistant support, voice recognition software (Dragonware), large font worksheets and learning materials for a visually impaired student
- regular rest breaks for students suffering from fatigue
- frequent access to toilets for students with medical need
- time out cards, punch bag and therapeutic support to help manage anger
- therapeutic curriculum including gardening, yoga, relaxation, art, cookery, music lessons, cognitive behavioural therapy or equine therapy where need is identified, mentoring and twice weekly wellbeing activities such as Mindfulness and visualisation
- coloured film to improve legibility for dyslexic students

We think ahead when we expect to welcome disabled students and make reasonable adjustments or provide aids/services to prevent any substantial disadvantage. Our accessibility policy and plan is available separately.

Expertise and training of staff

Our staff discuss and plan for individual students needs on a daily basis. All the adults working with our students provide quality first teaching and support.

Our staff are supported by an experienced SENDCO who has a Post Graduate SENDCO certificate.

Recent training for staff has included provision on:

- Anaphylaxis
- Defibrillation
- First Aid
- ASD Focused Teaching and Learning
- Using visual aids in the classroom
- Visual Impairment Team advice
- Hydrocortisone administration in adrenal crises
- Young Minds – mental health workshops
- Ongoing safeguarding training
- Doodle – curriculum differentiation
- SEN code of practice - assess, plan, do, review
- Mindfulness
- Mental /Health First Aid
- Understanding and supporting students to manage anxiety
- Managing anxiety during Covid 19
- Psychosis
- Selective Mutism and developing communication strategies
- Developing a personalised and challenging curriculum
- De-escalating techniques
- Working with students with impaired hearing
- Understanding Trauma

SEN students and school activities

We aim for all students to be included in school trips and provide support needed to make it happen. Risk assessments for off-site activities ensure that health and safety is not compromised. We have also provided off site activities to promote social and emotional development, including Art gallery, Museum trips, University school workshops, anti-bullying conferences in Brent, Go Ape High Ropes, visiting the local gym, climbing wall and equine care. We also provide 1:1 activities for individual students as identified by their need.

Support for emotional and social development

Personal Learning Plans for students with social, emotional and mental health needs promote active engagement in lessons and support self-esteem. Link Tutors are assigned to individual students specifically to support their personal development. The SENDCO has an open-door policy and encourages engagement.

We have a well-established PHSCE program which draws on experts from the borough and outside agencies. Speakers at the school have covered: Knife crime, drug awareness, PREVENT, internet safety - such as understanding how to keep safe online when using social media, future careers and medical issues (Borough Nurse Service). We offer training and accreditation in money management (Institute for Financial Studies). Other subjects we offer to support emotional and social development include: cookery, art, music, yoga, cognitive behavioural or equine therapy where need is identified, mentoring and twice weekly wellbeing sessions including the use of virtual reality to support Mindfulness. Students also have opportunities to relax in our Zen/Sensory Garden.

We help students develop friendships, social relationships, group work skills and organise careers guidance to prepare them for higher education, employment, independent living and participation in society. We visit Careers Fairs and a special Connexions adviser supports us weekly. Where possible we try to arrange placements, or activities, where students have shown a particular interest they wish to pursue in the future e.g. visits to local nursery, attendance to an after school music club at another school.

Outside Agencies

At Ashley College we work with a variety of outside agencies to ensure we give the best possible support to our students and their families. These include:

- Brent CAMHS or out of borough CAMHS
- Brent Carers Association
- Brent SEND Parent Forum
- BOAT
- Brent Inclusions Team
- Safer Schools Officer
- Brent Community Nursing Team
- GOSH and other hospitals
- Brent Speech and Language Therapy Team
- Young Minds
- Papyrus Suicide Prevention
- Mental Health First Aid UK
- Brent Disability Team
- School Education Welfare Officer
- Brent Educational Psychology Service
- Learning with Horses Equine Therapy Centre
- Anna Freud Centre
- Several other charitable support organisations.

Consulting and involving parents/carers

The Ashley College ethos is inclusive and we welcome engagement with parents/carers in reviewing, updating and implementing our policy. We also invite parent/carer views in home visits, meetings, student reviews, suggestions letterbox, and annual questionnaires.

We aim to secure their engagement in our approaches and see regular contact as strengthening the impact of our SEND support to students. Our discussions with parents/carers:

- allow time to explore their views and share concerns

- set outcomes, review progress, discuss activities and support, identify respective responsibilities
- Identify the impact of SEND support outside school
- are led by teachers with good knowledge of the student's needs and attainment
- always take account of student views
- have agreed outcomes, action and support recorded and copied to relevant staff, and the parent/carer.

Roles and responsibilities

Management Committee and Head – responsible for oversight of strategic decisions about SEND and school SEND arrangements, including regular review of:

- how expertise and resources for SEND build school improvement
- quality of SEND teaching and pupil progress

Involving other bodies in meeting SEND and family needs

Our network is wide and we have strong links with an extensive range of organisations supporting SEND. Relevant organisations are invited to review meetings, transition meetings and other planning for students with SEN. We have regular meetings of teams around individual students, including child protection and multi-agency teams. We contact voluntary organisations, sometimes at the request of families. The Brent 'Local Offer' and our contribution to it set out the full range of organisations and services on whom we call \(link\).

We work closely with mainstream schools, colleges and other support agencies others to ensure a smooth transition for students to and from Ashley College, and organise familiarisation visits and counselling where appropriate. We always provide full information to other bodies in respect of students with EHC plans.

Where a looked after child (LAC) has SEND our Designated Teacher works closely with the child, social worker, carer and the relevant LAC Virtual School Team to ensure effective communication and the best possible outcomes for the child.

Complaints

Parents have rights of redress if they feel the management committee or school has failed in its duties to provide, or if they disagree with a decision or feel there is discriminatory practice, via:

- Ashley College Complaints Procedure
- Disagreement resolution service
- appeal to the SEN and Disability Tribunal after mediation
- complaint to OFSTED
- complaint to the LA Ombudsman
- complaint to the Secretary of State
